Paragraph:

4.3

Original wording:

as is

Proposed wording:

ADD a new sentence: Components that exceed the ordered performance requirements of a particular ordered component (e.g. with respect to rated voltage, capacitance tolerance, etc), but meet all other performance requirements of the Purchase Order, may be substituted for delivery subject to agreement of the Orderer

Justification:

Allowed by MIL-PRF largely used in space programs.
Its implementation would also give a better guarantee that chip capacitors are tested as designed.

Modifications:

Components that exceed the ordered performance requirements of a particular ordered component (e.g. with respect to rated voltage, capacitance tolerance, etc), but meet all other values of the Purchase Order, such as size, leads or terminations, may be substituted for delivery subject to agreement of the customer. The substitutable capacitors shall not be remarked. " (see MoM of the PSWG 77 for more details)
